CLBB is Hiring!

Summer 2024 Research Assistants

As the intersection of law and neuroscience rapidly evolves, the Harvard MGH Center for Law, Brain & Behavior seeks to hire full-time, paid post-baccalaureate (e.g., graduate students, law or medical students) Research Associates and undergraduate Research Assistants for the summer 2024 academic term (June – August 2024).

Research Associates and Research Assistants will play an integral role in exciting Center initiatives. These include: Core CLBB projects (Aging Brain, Trauma at the Border, Criminal Sentencing, Juvenile/Emerging Young Adult Justice); the Brain InCite Neurolaw Library project; Judicial Education initiatives; amicus briefs; and, CLBB communications. Current undergraduates are eligible for Research Assistant positions, and post-baccalaureate (graduate, law, medical, other) students are eligible for the Research Associate position. Stipends are based on hiring as a Research Assistant ($4,000) or Research Associate ($6,000) positions. Individual start/end dates are flexible.

Research Associates and Research Assistants will report to Dr. Kinscherff. They will work with CLBB Co-Directors Dr. Judith Edersheim and Dr. Bruce Price, CLBB Project Directors, Senior Fellows in Law and Applied Neuroscience (joint Fellowship with Harvard Law School) and/or CLBB affiliated faculty in both law and neuroscience. Summer RAs must be available for at least 10 weeks during the months between May and August of the summer to be eligible. All work will be virtual although local and regional RAs may be asked to participate at CLBB meetings or events and all are welcome to attend CLBB social or professional gatherings.

Applications will be reviewed starting on January 15, and on a rolling basis thereafter.

All inquiries should be sent to CLBB Project Manager Heidi Kmetz at hkmetz@mgh.harvard.edu.
